SPECIAL TRAINING!!

Prior to this year’s conference, there will be three very special training opportunities. “Domestic Preparedness” is an 8- or 16-hour course following Department of Justice curriculum which is being presented courtesy of HEPACO Environmental. The first day will certify attendees to the “awareness” responder level while completing both days will certify students to the “technician” level. In addition, an 8-hour HAZWOPER refresher course is offered on October 7 and an 8-hour Incident Command course is offered on October 8. All courses will include hands-on and table-top exercises for responders. These courses are free of charge. Enrollment is limited and will be on a first come basis. Please indicate your attendance to the “Focus on Emergency Planning” state conference and/or which course you wish to attend.

Note: All three courses will be conducted at the Chattanooga Fire and Police Training Services Center, 3200 Amnicola Highway, Chattanooga, TN.

No charge to registrants or participants for Conference or Workshops

Registration for Conference and Training Workshops will be accepted until October 1, 2002 or until full, whichever comes first
